Message from Head of School

At The Gaudium School we believe and abide by cross cultural respect and accommodation of diversity. Students are encouraged to be open-minded and empathetic and caring.

At the recent Farmer's market, we introduced the ancient legacy of our culture 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' or All the world is one family. It looked at issues at the grassroot level, of outreach towards the local farming community, less privileged children in the neighbourhood schools and 'Shramdaan' as a way of increasing assets that can then be bestowed on deserving individuals and institutions of education.

We encouraged habits of sustainable consumption by introducing millets as a wholesome and nutritious alternative to long grained hybrid varieties of grains that are wiping out indigenous crops. We coordinated our efforts with the National Institute of Rural Development (NIRD) and the ICMR- Hyderabad National Institute of Nutrition, to encourage the sale of a variety of millets, organic honey and various other products made by cottage industries. The significant part of this effort was that the ownership and responsibility of the change towards sustainability was on the students. From packing 1000 kgs of grains into retail packages to framing artwork by students of the ZP School to sewing and crochet and craftworks of great beauty- our students poured their souls into the effort to do some small thing for others in society. They were robustly backed up by every teacher.

We are grateful to you dear parents for always encouraging your children to align with the spirit and philosophy of the school. We thank your active participation in our events.

We look forward to building a cohesive and culturally enriched and equitable society for our students to grow and thrive in.

Towards a better and greater tomorrow....

Acceptance and Mindfulness

Acceptance shows us the reality and necessary changes to connect with the broader aspect of humanity.

It helps to develop the tolerance in individuals. In our present diverse society acceptance brings a true meaning on togetherness and respect for every individual.

One of the key components of mindfulness is acceptance. We can develop acceptance in our society just by doing few simple changes in our mind, which can be an easy journey by practice mindfulness.

Student life is the best time to start practicing acceptance and build a better tomorrow for the world.
